

BRUNELLO DI MONTALCINO DOCG 2017

Michael Godel

If the wine's perfume scents like Col d'Orcia then it must be Col d'Orcia. If one estate could be counted on to keep the faith and consistency of classico Brunello alive then once again, think Col d'Orcia. Here the warmth of the vintage is noted but the mineral and elemental saltiness that cuts through makes sure to keep freshness always at the fore. Will this live in infamy like decades of Brunello that have come before, per haps not but as always, many opened bottles will deliver the experience of being pleasantly surprised. Drink 2021-2028. Tasted November 2021.
