

THE GLOBE AND MAIL

94
POINTS

COL D'ORCIA

2018

BRUNELLO
DI MONTALCINO
DOCG

A cooler growing season is credited with producing more classic styles of Brunello in 2018 like this well-structured and balanced sangiovese. The character is different from the wines produced in the hotter years of 2017 and 2019-2022. Coming from one of the largest organic vineyards in Tuscany, Col d'Orcia displays satisfying fruit and fragrance in its youth, with tannins that will support development in bottle over time. Drink now to 2040. Available at the above price in Ontario, $69.99 in British Columbia, various prices in Alberta. January 10, 2024